COMIC MAGAZINE IS PROPOSED BY SIGMA DELTA CHI

Men's Professional Journalistic Fraternity Vote to Sponsor
Humorous Publication

500 SUBSCRIBERS ARE NEEDED FOR SUCCESS

Magazine Would Be Similar to Others Published by Larger Universities

The University is going to have a comic magazine.

At a meeting of the Kentucky chapter, Sigma Delta Chi, international professional journalistic fraternity, yesterday afternoon, plans were made for the publication once a month of a college comic magazine provided the student body exhibits sufficient interest in the proposed publication to assure its sponsors at least 500 subscribers.

The first edition will be published as soon as Sigma Delta Chi has this assurance and is able to assemble the material. If the response of the student body to this proposal is made quickly enough the editors plan a December edition.

It is felt that the University has been long in need of a comic magazine. Although sporadic publications have appeared at times in the past, none of them were permanent and most of them were dubious in character. It remained for Sigma Delta Chi, therefore, to start the project, which from all present indications will be an outstanding success and spread the fame of the University to all the college world.

Large Edition Planned

The proposed publication will contain between 30 and 40 pages, replete with pictures, poems and puns, and will be decorated with vari-colored cover. It will be along the same lines as the comic magazines published by the larger universities of the country.

According to Sigma Delta Chi, the new publication will not be started on a "small scale with intentions of developing," but will be "bigger and better college humor" from the first edition. Its editors propose to equal or surpass the well known Colgate Banter, Cornell Widow, Kansas Jayhawk, Texas Ranger, Brown Jug, Harvard Lampoon, and so on.

It is believed that every student in the University will subscribe to the magazine, but at least 500 of them must indicate that they will do so before the work will be continued. With this in view, there will be placed in the mailbox of every student in the University a card whereon one may signify one's intentions of subscribing for one year to the publication. Prices for single copies will be 25 cents, but the subscription price has not yet been decided on as it is undetermined whether it will be published eight or nine months during the school year.

A name for the new Kentucky comic magazine has not been chosen, and those who have suggestions as to titles may address them to O. K. Barnes, care of The Kernel office. A suitable prize will be given to the student submitting an acceptable title.

NOTED ARTIST TO SPEAK AT GUIGNOL

Ralph Fletcher Seymour Will Address Students Monday at 7:30 o'clock on "The Art of the Mayans."

Ralph Fletcher Seymour, distinguished publisher and artist who is here as a visiting instructor to the department of art of the University, will lecture Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Guignol theater, according to an announcement by Miss Anne Callahan, of the department of art.

The subject of Mr. Seymour's talk will be "Art of the Mayans and the Process of Etching." Mr. Seymour spent last winter in Mexico where he made a study of the Mayan civilization with particular attention to Mayan art.

According to Mr. Seymour the Mayans were much farther advanced than other civilizations in America at this period and the race had taken a decided step forward in architecture, mathematics and astronomy. They possessed too, a very good literature. The Mayans are thought to have been the root stock from which the Incas in Peru and the Toltecs in Mexico were descended.

"At Uxmal," Mr. Seymour said, "one finds the purest and highest development of the Mayan civilization."

During Mr. Seymour's journey through Mexico many interesting pictures were filmed and these were combined into a movie of 2,000 feet, which will be shown during the course of his lecture Monday night.

"The audience will be sure to enjoy this," Mr. Seymour says, "as the camera caught the natives in their most characteristic poses of everyday life and pictures all the vividness of their lives."

Following Mr. Seymour's lecture there will be an exhibition of his etchings and water colors now on display at the art center.

Thursday afternoon a special exhibition of the artist's work will be given together with a tea in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour. The public and the student body, and faculty in particular are invited to attend all of these events.

Will Rate Caney Creek Junior College According to University Standard

Dr. W. D. Funkhouser left yesterday for Caney Creek Junior College, Knott county, where he will make an inspection to see how the school stands in accordance with the University rating for junior colleges. Dr. Funkhouser is dean of the Graduate School.

Dr. Funkhouser went to Wayland by train where he was met by a delegation of Knott county citizens who conducted him the remaining 10 miles of his journey on mule back.

Caney Creek Junior College has no connection with the outside world except a mail hack which makes a trip once a week to Wayland. Mrs. Alice S. G. Lloyd is head of the institution, and she is attempting to teach the natives of the mountains something of the civilization of the outside world. Mrs. Lloyd depends entirely upon the interests of the public for financial aid.

Dr. Funkhouser expects to return to Lexington Monday or Tuesday of next week.

Guignol Announces Next Presentation

Theater's Second Offering to Be
"The Cassilis' Engagement"

by St. John Hankin

"The Cassilis' Engagement," by St. John Hankin, English playwright of wide reputation, has been announced by the Guignol theater as its next presentation, to open December 10.

The play deals with high English society and ranks along with Oscar Wilde's "Lady Windermere's Fan." It is the story of a high-born young man's infatuation for a low cast London girl who has a "perfectly impossible Mamma." The aristocratic Mrs. Cassilis is, of course, bitterly opposed but shrewd enough to know that open opposition would only fan the flames of her son's love. The cunning and craftiness of her schemes to prevent the marriage form a basis for the plot of this highly amusing comedy drama.

Try-outs for the cast have been held all this week at the campus theater and the characters have been tentatively chosen. Director Frank C. Fowler will be in his office every afternoon to interview any additional students who desire to try-out for parts. The final selections will be announced next week.

This play will run a week at the former Romany theater following which it will be taken on the road. Dick Carron, Phi Delta Theta, is in charge of the arrangements.

Girls' Rifle Squad Will Meet Monday

A mass meeting for all girls interested in rifle will be held Monday night, November 12, at 7:15 o'clock in the Women's gymnasium.

Miss Helen Skinner, assistant director of physical education, will give a general talk on rifle marksmanship, and outline the program of this sport for the coming year. A different plan in coaching has been adopted this year. Instead of the girls who have been shooting the rifle squad having charge of the classes, the men on the varsity rifle team will coach the beginning classes.

If sufficient interest is shown in rifle, matches will be held with other colleges early in the spring semester. Miss Elizabeth Skinner, rifle manager, has announced that all girls who do not attend the meeting Monday night will be ineligible to enroll in the classes.

The girls' glee club will sing two numbers at the convocation, according to Prof. Carl A. Lampert, conductor.

MISSING MEN

Each week, down in one corner of this page, we run a list of names of men and women who in the past have been active in the Alumni association, but have become lost to us. There are several different ways in which "lost" Alumni can be located. This method when it works at all, is the most economical. However, unless we have the whole-hearted co-operation of every one of you who read The Kernel each week the method is a complete failure. At the very best it is a difficult thing to keep from losing large numbers of Alumni from a list as large as ours. It is a continuous battle to keep the correct addresses of the members of the association. Read this list each week and if you know where any of the missing ones are, tell us the correct address. Each year there are a number of the active and paid up Alumni who change their addresses without letting us know about the change. Consequently their copies of The Kernel are returned. If you are changing your address write to us and give us the new one. We want you to have every issue of The Kernel.

A MORAL VICTORY

The editor of this column knows that the Alumni of the University of Kentucky have been told of the moral victories of our football teams so many times that they now are inclined to scoff at the term. However, we will chance one more statement of the moral victory.

In other columns of this issue of The Kernel will be found a full account of the football game between Vanderbilt and our own Wildcats. When you have read it through we venture to state that you will agree with us that it was a moral victory. We went up against the team that is widely touted as the best team in the South. We did wha no other team has been able to do this year—we stopped them. Had it not been for the breaks of the game we would have emerged victorious in the end. As it was, we believe that the 14 to 7 score is nothing that Alumni and supporters of the Wildcats need be ashamed of.

It is the writer's firm belief that we are beginning an era of football equality if not supremacy in the South. When the likely Southern championship teams are named at the beginning of the season next year, Kentucky will be among those who are counted as strong contenders. In other words, fellow Kentuckians, we have arrived.

THE FLOOD FUND

The officers of the Alumni association are thankful to all of you who generously contributed to the Flood Fund that was begun after this office was so badly damaged last summer. Had it not been for the hearty support that we received from a great number of you we would be in a much worse financial condition than we are. As it is, there is still much that needs doing and to those of you who have not contributed we wish to announce that we will accept check, money order, or cash for any amount that you wish to send. Every little bit will help.

CHARLES R. BROCK DIES IN DENVER

Prominent Alumnus, Member of Class of 1890, Succumbs After Long Illness; Was an Active Member of Association.

Charles R. Brock, graduate of the University, member of the class of 1890, and Life Member of the Alumni association, died at his home in Denver, Colo., July 2, 1928, according to word that has just reached friends and classmates in Lexington and at the University. He died after a lingering illness brought about by cancer.

Mr. Brock was one of the outstanding members of the Alumni association and was active in its work and advancement since leaving the University. He was chairman of the Patterson Memorial committee and worked long and faithfully for that undertaking. During the World War when the activities of the Alumni association came almost to a standstill, he financed the publication of the Alumni bulletins published for a year or more. He became a Life Member of the association in 1917 and has been closely in touch with the University ever since.

He was a member of the legal firm of Smith and Brock in Denver and for several years had been delivering lectures on Equity and Pleading at the law school of Denver University. He attained nation-wide prominence in his field of work and in 1916 the University honored him by bestowing on him the degree of LL. D.

He was married to Miss Katherine P. Brown, of Kentucky, in 1893, and a few years later went to Denver where he lived until his death. He attained great prominence in his adopted state and held many positions of honor and trust during his lifetime. He was an active member of the Baptist church and held high offices in the church. He was a member of the first civil service commission of Denver and was at one time president of the Denver Bar association and high in the councils of the American Bar association.

Mr. Brock became ill two years ago while on a tour of Europe and was forced to return hurriedly to his home. He underwent an operation and for a time believed himself well. Last summer he again became ill and a second operation was necessary. At the time of this second operation his true condition was learned and hope for his recovery was given up. He continued to grow weaker and a few weeks later died.

Funeral services for Mr. Brock were held at the First Baptist church, of Denver, and on July 8 memorial services were held in London, Ky., his birthplace.

Besides a host of friends he is survived by his widow, his aged father, five sisters and three brothers.

The Mothers' club of Delta Tau Delta held its regular meeting at the chapter house on Monday afternoon. Mrs. W. E. Davis, the newly-elected president of the club, presided at the business session. The Mothers met in a called meeting Thursday afternoon at the fraternity house.

Woman's Club Picture Show

The Woman's club of the University gave the first of the series of benefit picture shows Saturday at the Strand theater. The purpose of the shows is to raise money for the student hospital fund. This club was organized at the University about 20 years ago before there was a dispensary on the campus, and has done much good among the student body.

The morning picture shows will continue through November and the proceeds will go toward the fund benefit. Attendance at the shows will be greatly appreciated.

Phi Beta Holds Pledging Services

Phi Beta, women's honorary dramatic art and music fraternity, held formal pledging services Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of the Misses Gooch on Hambrick avenue.

Mrs. Lolo Robinson, president of the fraternity, presided and the following girls were formally pledged:

Misses Margaret Allen, Fulton; Maryleane Bishop, Murray; Catherine Davis, Lexington; Eunice Jane Denton, Madisonville; Martha Hall, Macksburg; Beryl Hardy, Lexington; Mildred Little, Calvert City; Ruth McFarland, Lexington; Buena Mathis, Lexington; Ruth Moffitt, Paducah; Anna May, Lexington.

After pledging services, an informal social hour was held. Miss Jean Chandler of the Robertson-Smith Players, and a member of Phi Beta from Iota chapter, Chicago, was a guest.

Alpha Delta Theta Entertains
The Alpha Delta Theta sorority entertained Thursday afternoon at their chapter house on East Maxwell street from 4 to 6 o'clock in honor of their house mother, Mrs. Louise Enloe.

The house was beautifully decorated in yellow and white and the same motif was carried out in the ices and cakes.

The guest list included all the house mothers of the other sororities and two representatives from each sorority.

University Concert

The first concert of the year given by the Philharmonic orchestra of the University was held Sunday afternoon under the direction of Prof. Carl Lampert at the Men's gymnasium.

The program, in commemoration of Schubert week, was a Schubert Centenary program. Mrs. L. L. Dantzler, contralto, was the song soloist.

During a short intermission nine men were pledged to Phi Mu Alpha, national honorary musical fraternity, after which the orchestra concluded their program with the selections, "Jota," Grandos, "Two Guitars," Harlick, and "Southern Rhapsody," Horner.

Select the correct apparel for the well dressed U. of K. man

"Beat Northwestern in the realm of fashion as well as on the gridiron!"

That was the warcry of the Kentucky Wildcats who turned style arbiters Friday noon at the Orrington Hotel, Evanston, Ill., and selected the correct apparel for the well-dressed U. of K. man.

"We may not have sex appeal but we know what type of clothes we want! Take away your two button, tight waisted coats! We want comfort in our clothes. Give us three buttons, straight back, loose fitting coats and we'll be happy."

This was the dressdict of the 40 members of the University of Kentucky football squad who were guests at luncheon of The House of Kuppenheimer, Chicago.

With a real Kentucky Wildcat yell, a single breasted, three button, Oxford gray, fleece fabric coat was voted the most popular model. A heavy football ulster with belted back was given second place.

The two popular overcoat models shown in the picture—on extreme ends were worn by Earl Higgins and Bud Gibson. O. S. McCollister gave a short talk of welcome and spoke on the value of good appearance. George W. Dixon, Jr., manager of the Northwestern University football squad welcomed the boys in behalf of Northwestern.

The "GRID"

You know at first glance that this is a "big time" University style. The long straight overcoat or topcoat as pictured above. And of course it comes from the House of Kuppenheimer.

WE ASK A FAVOR

The rule that "student absent from classes immediately preceding or following a holiday will have one-tenth deducted from his standing" is in many respects a fair one. There are times, however, when we believe that it is not fair and should be ignored. One of these times rapidly approaches.

Thanksgiving Day, the best and most valiant football team that has represented the University in many seasons will meet the Volunteers of the University of Tennessee at Knoxville. Aside from the Centre and Washington and Lee Games, there is no game on the Wildcat schedule that surpasses in interest this annual battle waged for the Beer Keg.

Now, the number of students who would like to witness this annual fray are legion, but the journey to Knoxville is a long and strenuous one and whether taken by train or by motor it is hardly possible for a student to attend his last class Wednesday, leave for Knoxville, and be back in time for his first class Friday morning. Nevertheless, it would seem, this is what the University requires—either this or the loss of one-tenth from one's standing.

It is with the foregoing in mind that The Kernel requests that University authorities consider this rule void Thanksgiving. Were University authorities to do this The Kernel believes that no student would abuse the privilege permitted. In other words, The Kernel believes that those students who have no intention of going to this game would be fair enough to their fellow students not to cut these classes.

Here is an opportunity for University authorities to prove their faith in the student body; it is likewise an opportunity for the student body to prove that it merits their faith. It is in confidence of the sincerity of each that The Kernel asks of University authorities this special favor.

IT IS NOT TO MOURN

After an epic struggle, the gallant Blue of Kentucky was trailed in the dust of a Vanderbilt gridiron last Saturday. We do not mourn. It was a glorious defeat.

The student body of the University is proud of its football team. It is proud of the team that never stopped battling. It is proud of the team that, with the spirit of Old Sparta, revived memories of Thermopylae by its courage in the face of crushing, ominous defeat. It is proud of the team from whom only a whim of Fate withheld victory. We do not mourn.

After the game on that cold, gray autumn afternoon in Nashville, the Vanderbilt coach told Harry Gamage that Kentucky is the best team Vanderbilt has faced this year. Noble praise. We believe the present Kentucky team is the best team that Vanderbilt will face until it meets another Kentucky team. And too, we believe that Harry Gamage is the best coach that Dan McGugin has faced this year or for several other years past. We believe he will realize this even more the next time his eleven faces a Gamage machine.

There is a school song which declares that "one day's defeat means a victory to meet." Here, then, is a philosophy which teaches that ultimately one always gets what one deserves. Based upon these facts, or fancies, as you will, The Kernel announces that Kentucky will defeat Alabama, V. M. I. and Tennessee, in succession, this season.

On a cold, drizzling, dark Saturday some several years ago we sat on a fence at Old Stoll field and saw Bruce Fuller lead an inspired Kentucky eleven to victory over Alabama. Tomorrow, history is due to repeat.

THE TEAM'S RECEPTION

Although we hear on every side many complimentary expressions from students concerning the Wildcats' remarkable showing this year in football and although we believe students to be thoroughly interested in the team, other persons who know of the scanty reception given the squad on their return from Nashville last Saturday expressed in no uncertain manner their disgust at what they term the students' luke-warm feeling for their team. The Kernel believes this to be purely a matter of thoughtlessness on the part of the student body. We trust that hereafter it will remember the age-old adage that "actions speak louder than words." Show our Wildcats that you are behind them.

MORE ABOUT DANCES

At a recent meeting of Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary campus leaders' fraternity, it was decided that this group of men on the campus would offer their whole-hearted support to the Men's Student Council in their efforts to control the drinking at dances.

It is common knowledge that as soon as the student body evidences its intention of governing itself and proves that it can and will take the necessary measures to control the undesirable elements, the faculty will then be highly in favor of dances.

President McVey, when interviewed, said that the fault was not with any member of the faculty, but that as yet the students had not given any evidence of wanting to govern themselves.

If there is a dance before Thanksgiving, and there may be, the actions of the students who attend and the subsequent action taken by the Student Council in regard to the men who continue to act in their unmannerly way, will determine the course taken by the University authorities toward the dance question for the rest of the year.

The student body does not realize how serious the situation has become. If the right spirit is not shown and the proper co-operation evidenced, the faculty of the University considers that dances will be better abandoned.

The Student Council is chosen by the student body and as such is supposed to control certain elements. There is quite a responsibility attached to office in this organization. Where there is responsibility there is always bound to be unpleasantness. It now becomes necessary to find if the men chosen are big enough to carry out those certain things even though they become a task.

The Kernel is not offering any suggestions, because it believes that is the job of the Student Council. What it does ask is for results.

COLD WEATHER AND FRESH AIR

This is the season when the thermometer and the windows go down at the same time. With the arrival of the first chill breeze sashes are lowered and doors closed against the outdoor air as against a bitter enemy. This is a system that has its drawbacks, however. It is well enough to protect ourselves against cold, but in shunning fresh air too much, we are apt to run the risk of lowering our resistance against disease. No air is no healthful as outdoor air, and we need a quantity of it every day in order to keep well.

Now that the winter is upon us, let us not neglect to keep our bedroom windows open while we sleep. In an era of electric pads, hot water bottles, and warm, light covering, there is no reason why we cannot have a comfortable night's rest in a cold room. Only in very severe climate is it perhaps advisable not to keep the windows open at night.

Moreover, we can work more efficiently and more contentedly, in home, shop or office, if the windows are opened for a few minutes several times a day. And let us remember that a brisk, daily walk tones up the system so that we do not feel the cold so much. To educate the public in the value of fresh air and in disease prevention, the National Tuberculosis Association and its affiliated organizations are conducting the twenty-first Christmas seal sale.

Smooth and Better—"Not a Cough in a Carload"

Music, Stage and Screen

(By Thomas L. Riley)

With "Rio Rita" at the Auditorium tomorrow night, "Wings" at the Kentucky Sunday and "Show People" at the Strand the same day, music, stage and screen will all be well represented. Of the pictures previewed this week our selections are: "Wings" in first place, "Show People" second, and "The Red Mark" third.

"Show People" at the Strand Sunday

Perhaps the best entertainment of the week will be offered at the Strand beginning Sunday with the opening of "Show People" in which Marion Davies and William Haines are co-stars. We need only to glance over the supporting cast to find that the picture boasts of more well known names than any other ever made. Charles Chaplin, Douglas Fairbanks, John Gilbert, William S. Hart, Rod La Rocque, Norma Talmadge, Mae Murray, Leatrice Joy and many others are cast as extras. The reason that all stellar names are included in the picture is that the plot centers about Hollywood and the antics performed by Miss Davies and Mr. Haines as would be screen stars.

"Wings" at the Kentucky Sunday

Perhaps the most highly exploited picture of recent years in "Wings." There is no reason why it should not have a blast of trumpets at its arrival because it is a perfect box-office attraction, pleases the public and, as a minor consideration, has already made quite a fortune for its producers. Almost everyone has heard something about "Wings." It opened for its world premiere showing August 8, 1927 in New York amid a shower of fanfare. Since that time it has grown so much by exploitation that the picture is almost a byword when aviation is mentioned. The plot aviation took in the war is the theme of the picture. Clara Bow is in the cast. But don't let that keep you from going. "Wings" is big enough to be a good picture in spite of almost any opposition. Charles Rogers and Richard Arlen take the parts of dashing young flyers.

The Ben Ali Program

"Stocks and Blonds" is the current motion picture offering at the Ben Ali. This is a silly affair slightly concerning the stock market. Jacqueline Logan, Gertrude Astor and "Skeets" Gallagher are in the cast. The "Why Worry" company offer a change of bill on the stage.

The latest production from the megaphone of James Cruze will be shown at the Ben Ali beginning Sunday. It is called "The Red Mark" and has a cast of exceptionally fine actors although few of them are known. The plot of this picture together with good acting and almost brilliant direction go to make it well worth seeing. Do not expect a comedy. It is a worthy example of the more serious drama of the cinema. The "Why Worry" company will continue to occupy the stage next week. O, well!

MR. BARTHELME was asked to smoke each of the four leading brands, clearing his taste with coffee between smokes. Only one question was asked: "Which one do you like best?"

*Lights

Skies with Commerce*

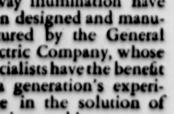

THE air map of America is now in the making—on the ground.

Ten years ago, there were 218 miles of air mail routes with two station stops; to-day, a network of sky roads bridges the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico.

Can you imagine this growth without electricity—without illuminated airports—without trunk lines studded with electric beacons?

Men of vision are building for increasing traffic of the air.
Soon, the skies will be filled with commerce.

Just as electricity is helping to conquer the air, the land, and the sea to-day, so to-morrow it will lead to greater accomplishments in aviation and in every human activity.

A majority of the beacon lights used in airport and airway illumination have been designed and manufactured by the General Electric Company, whose specialized knowledge is the result of a generation's experience in the solution of lighting problems.

HOOSIERS WILL BE NEXT FOE OF SCRUBS

Tomorrow afternoon the reserves of the University will meet the powerful University of Indiana reserve team in a football game. This game will be played in the Indiana stadium at Bloomington.

A squad of 18 men is expected to make the trip, leaving this afternoon.

The starting lineup should look like this: Cavanaugh and Abley, ends; Idleman and Urevig, tackles; Campbell and Chapman, guards; Lowry, center; Knight and McLemore, halves; Brown, full, and Dysard, quarterback. There are no serious injuries to any member of the squad, and it has recently been strengthened by the addition from the varsity squad of Art Denman. So it looks like the boys will give Indiana a real fight.

The game with Indiana will close the first season of existence for a University reserve team. The season has not been very much of a success as far as winning games is concerned, as far as winning only one game in its credit column, but there is this to consider.

Coach Gamage started a reserve team with the purpose of developing material in the University which is not eligible or not yet of varsity calibre. This purpose has been successfully carried out under Coach Don Graham. Experience against such teams as Ohio State and Indiana reserve will not hurt these men next year when they try out for the varsity.

The scrubs were given a rest over the last week-end when their game with Ohio Wesleyan reserves was cancelled by officials of the Buckeye school, who said that the crippled condition of both the first and second teams would not permit a game with the Kentuckians.

Freshman Basketeers Hold First Practice

Sixty-eight enterprising young men answered the call to arms issued by Coach M. E. Potter for the initial freshman basketball practice which was held on Tuesday afternoon in the Men's gym. The fresh will hold their practice sessions on Tuesdays and Wednesdays until later in the season.

Coach Potter will have his hands full with such a large squad but he states that no cuts will be made until after Christmas. No definite schedule has been completed for the yearlings but efforts are being made to secure contests with the first year secure contests with the first year teams of every college within the state particularly.

The completed schedule will be announced at a later time, although it is certain than no games will be played before New Year.

The Little International Livestock show will be held in the Judging Pavilion on Rose street, Friday night, Nov. 16 at 7:30 o'clock. The Little International, modeled after the world famous International livestock show held each year in Chicago, is an annual event at the University. It has been held each year since 1919 and is sponsored by the Block and Bridle club, an organization of students interested in the advancement of the livestock industry.

A special attraction this year will be a program put on by the Junior Clubs of Fayette county. Fayette county furnished the state champion Junior Club judging team this year, and this team will be present and give an exhibition of their abilities. In addition to the judging team the Junior Clubs plan to put on at least one stunt of a purely entertaining nature.

The program will consist of an exhibition of the best livestock on the farm, as well as exhibits of farm crops, horticultural products, and poultry products. Included in the program will be a series of highly entertaining stunts, contests and various amusements. There will be a milking contest different from anything ever held before. Among the livestock exhibits will be seen the best cows from the Experiment Station dairy, some of which are record cows and all of which are a superior type. The sheep exhibit will include 25 fat wether lambs, the International Champion Cheviot wether lamb of last year, a Shropshire lamb believed to be championship material, and a Southdown wether lamb which according to Mr. Barber, the shepherd, is the best he has ever seen. Mr. Barber has attended the International show for the past several years and has seen most of the champions in that time.

The University judging team which will soon represent the University at the International in Chicago, will be introduced to the audience and will demonstrate their method of judging. The members of the team are B. T. Inman, George Letton, W. R. Brooks, George White and Troll Young.

The Block and Bridle club, and Alpha Zeta, national honorary agricultural fraternity, will hold their pledging exercises during the show. Winners of the Alpha Zeta scholarship medal and Weil prize will be announced. After the show the Junior Clubs will hold a social hour on the second floor of the pavilion. The public is cordially invited.

To quote Dr. Alderman in regard to the Red Cross: "The American Red Cross, the largest of the world family of red cross societies, asks the young men and women of our colleges and universities not only to become members, but to take an active part as volunteers in extending its many forms of humane service. To them looks for its future leaders."

The director of the campaign, Mr. Maddox, is expected to appoint a chairman of the publicity and enrollment committee, and these chairmen should have a representative in each class, fraternity and sorority on the committee.

That's why I came over and that's why other Chinese come over. The school system is different, too, in that education is not as expensive and as easily attained as in America. There are, say, four or five secondary schools to a district and students must come quite a distance to attend them."

"How does China stand regarding that great American sport, football?" we interrupted. "Do Chinese go out for athletics as this university does?"

Soccer Is National Sport
"Hardly that," young Chong smiled, "but the schools do have soccer, baseball, tennis and gymnastics. Soccer is our great national sport as football is here—in fact it is so much like football that we call it that. Don't think, too, that all China is backward, as most Americans do. Of course many parts of China are very far from modern, but I know nothing about them. In Shanghai, the streets
